Aldermen Approve $265,000 Project Tram Improvement

passenger service over this extension.

The rehabilitation plan was adopted on a motion by Aldermen Douglas Grant, F. W. Brown, A. B. Bisset, Douglas Campbell and Mayor John W. Fry voting in support of the motion.

DISSETERS
Aldermen D. K. Knott and Hugh J. Macdonald went on record as opposing the plan. Aldermen J. H. Ogilvie, J. T. McCreath and F. C. Caselman were absent.

In addition to approving an appropriation of a federal loan of $150,000 for the total street railway program, council also authorized commissioners to apply to the Dominion government for the following loans: $36,185 for paving local improvement share only; $24,500 for an addition to the waterworks shop; and $7,000 for the construction of a power substation at the west end of street railway line.

ABANDON TRACKS
In taking the initial step in the projected $1,000,000 expenditure for the improvement of transportation facilities in Edmonton over the next 15 years, council is looking to the day when the existing street railway system will be abandoned.

Plans call for the operation of trolley buses on practically all routes at the end of the year. In connection with the trolley bus plan, a delegation representing the Strathcona Centre Community League requested bus service from the South to the North Side street, as proposed in the commissioners report.

Use of trolley buses over the new route was recommended earlier this year by both Commissioner Robert J. Gibb and Norman D. Wilson, Toronto traffic expert, who conducted a survey of the street railway system.

Ald. Knott said he was still opposed to the purchase of trolley buses, believing tram service was adequate for existing traffic conditions. He declared that if the buses were operated on Jasper avenue traffic congestion would result.

WINTER OPERATION
The alderman also declared that in his opinion trolley buses would not give satisfactory performance during winter months when operating on icy streets.

"I think it would be much cheaper to rehabilitate tracks than to try the expensive trolley bus experiment," Ald. Knott stated. "We should consider this question very carefully before making the expenditure."

Declaring that he shared Ald. Knott's views on the trolley bus issue, Ald. Macdonald stressed the fact that with an expenditure of $150,000 over the next two years the city could improve tram tracks. Calgary, he reminded council, was not yet considering operating trolley buses.

SUPPORTS PLAN
Believing there was some merit in the trolley bus scheme, Ald. George Campbell declared that Norman D. Wilson, Toronto traffic expert, had recommended the use of trolley buses in a report which he submitted to council earlier this year.

Ald. A. Bisset speaking in support of the trolley bus plan, emphasized the fact that purchase of trolley buses would prove to be cheaper in the long run than undertaking a program of track rehabilitation.

Referring to the proposed operation of a new route between the north and south sides via the McDougall hill, the councillor pointed out it would be impossible to run street cars up the hill. The trolley bus would be the only feasible vehicle for the route.

MONEY WASTED
Dealing with Mr. Wilson's report prepared at a cost of $1,500, Ald. Bisset declared the traffic man had recommended the use of trolley buses. If his proposals were not acted upon, the money spent on the report could be considered wasted.

Commissioner Gibb informed council that trolley bus transportation was now out of the experimental stage. "The transportation system is now stabilizing," he said.

Continuing, he stated that if a bus system were not adopted the city would have to undertake an extensive track improvement program, including the redecking of the Low Level bridge and the laying of trackwork also the renewal of diamonds at the C.N.R. track on 10 street—a large outlay.

"DOME OF INDIGNATION"
During the past nine or 10 years Edmonton had been spending $75,000 or $80,000 a year on a progressive improvement program for the street railway. "We can't throw up our hands now, or we're going to get a dose of indignation," Mr. Gibb stated.

"What we've been doing for the past 10 years is not good enough," said Ald. Grant. "We've got to go ahead." He supported the trolley bus plan.

Speaking at length on the commissioner's recommended expenditure on a new trolley bus service, Mayor Fry said he believed council should adopt the proposed plan. "Somebody else's got to make a big expenditure, and we shouldn't wait until the system is in such bad shape that it is hard to finance repairs," he said. "The Dominion government will lend us the money we need and that comes rather as a God-send. If we don't

MANY PENAL CHANGES AFTER INVESTIGATION

Royal Commission Suggests Three-Man Board Handle Jail System

OTTAWA, July 14.—An outstanding recommendation in the report of the Royal Commission on Penitentiaries, calling for immediate dismissal of Brigadier-General D. M. Omond, superintendent of penitentiaries, was carried out by order-in-council approved Wednesday.

General Omond's position will be abolished one month from today, Hon. P. J. Caudin, works minister, announced. Mr. Caudin is acting for R. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, who is on vacation. No provision has been made for his successor but it is assumed this will be cared for by appointment of a temporary commission.

Inspector J. D. Dawson, one of three inspectors attached to the penitentiaries branch, was transferred to the office of controller of revenue, and George E. Shortt of Ottawa appointed in his place.

Mr. Dawson also came under criticism of the Royal Commission which found he did not have "the capacity of improvement to fulfill this important office" and recommended his transfer to an other branch of the government service.

The Royal Commission recommended suppression of the penitentiaries system be placed in the hands of a three-man commission and legislation to that effect was presented near the end of the parliamentary session which ended July 1. It passed the House of Commons but was killed in the Senate where it was declared sufficient time had been allowed for studying the report.

UP TO LAPOLITE
When Mr. Lapointe returns from his holiday late this month he is expected to make an announcement covering the government's

Cupid Wrecks Plans New York to Alaska Paddler

WINNIPEG, July 14.—Cupid caught up with Mark Richelson of Buffalo, N.Y., in Winnipeg and induced him to abandon a projected canoe trip from New York to Nome, Alaska, after completing some 2,500 miles of the journey.

Miss Elizabeth Parlin of Upper Montclair, N.J., married here from her home and she and Richelson were married Wednesday. They will return to New York but Richelson's two companions, Robert Fuller and Richard Shabodan, both of New York, will continue the long paddle.

proposal of procedure pending introduction of legislation at the next session of parliament. Mr. Shortt who is about 45 years old, is son of the late Adam and Mr. Shortt of Ottawa and was one of the expert assistants to the royal commission. Previously he had been doing special work for the labor department.

General Omond was appointed superintendent of penitentiaries in 1932. He was formerly director of the Canadian expeditionary force to France.

The conclusion of the royal commission with respect to General Omond was that he had "displayed great diligence in exhaustive attention to a multitude of details but he has the opinion of your commissioners, failed to grasp fundamental principles as essential to the performance of the important executive duties connected with the office of superintendent."

It was completely lost the confidence of the staffs of all the penitentiaries and, without this, no administration can succeed."

Richelson led the expedition out of New York, May 3, to start the 8,000-mile jaunt by freighter canoe. They followed the Hudson river to Albany, thence to Fort Erie. From there the adventurers charted their course up the Great Lakes to Fort William.

After numerous portages they arrived on the Winnipeg river via Rainy lake, Rainy river and Lake of the Woods in northwestern Ontario. They reached Winnipeg this week.

ITALO ACTION AFRICA UNDER BRITISH FIRE

Italy Too Aggressive Making Military Posts On Britain's Soil

LONDON, July 14.—Italy came under the opposition's fire in the House of Commons Wednesday for "inadvertently" establishing military posts on British African territory.

Africa Colonial Secretary Malins "by inadvertence and lack of knowledge" set up posts beyond the "inadvertently" establishing military posts on British African territory.

In the winter of 1934-35 attacks by Ethiopians were reported on Italian garrison troops at Walwal, outpost close to the Ethiopian border. Ethiopia claimed the station was a territory within its own sovereignty. The incidents were used by the Italian as justification for their later invasion.

D. N. Pritt, labor, a noted lawyer, warned that Italy's activities beyond its African boundaries might well develop into an invasion of the Sudan and Egypt.

Windsors Land
RAPALLO, Italy, July 14.—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor arrived here aboard the Yacht Guair, Wednesday from Antilles, France, to spend several days in the Italian Riviera.

Chinese Recent White Residents

WINDSOR, Ont., July 14.—Following sparked by a recent settling of white residents in Windsor's small district burst into flame to day and resulted in a minor riot in which one Chinese was arrested. It was revealed in police court, Hong Sang, 30, was remanded one week on a charge of assault involving three "white" and causing them bodily harm.

Perfect Records
VANCOUVER, July 14.—Bernice and Kenneth Marshall, children of Mr. and Mrs. H. Marshall, have completed a combined record of 17 years perfect school attendance. Bernice has never been late at school in nine years' study, and Kenneth has a perfect record of eight years at private school here.

MINERS KILLED WHEN TUNNEL TRAPS THEM
SALMON, Idaho, July 14.—Two miners were killed Wednesday when they were buried under tons of debris in a cave-in near here.

The victims were Carl Sylvester and Leonard Lyla. Both men were hauled when a tunnel collapsed. Miners and a civilian conservation crew came from a nearby camp worked several hours to reach the men.

Sylvester, his head crushed, was believed instantly killed. Lyla was still breathing when rescued but he died enroute to Salmon.

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE BAD BREATH
Millions Suffer Without Knowing!

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge, but others can! Dental call this odor "denture breath" and its serious. It comes from a multi-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay, bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your teeth and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing can't get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans, it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tartar, stain and odor

POLIDENT
Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
The mark of Polident is in the name. Polident is the name of the only denture cleanser that actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tartar, stain and odor

Target of envious looks from fellow socialites is Lesley Bogert, above, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beverley Bogert, hosts at a young folk's dance in honor of Prince Bertil, son of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolph of Sweden, at Newport, R.I. Word got around that the party, biggest social coup of the season, would be limited to 75 guests. But, no such thing as a free lunch, and the party, dashing debut, started pulling every wire within reach, swelling the guest list.

The mayor said he could not see why there was "such a fuss" over the proposed $150,000 for a bus system. He reminded council the city had recently spent $108,000 on a truckage repair program which had provided for the renewal of only eight trucks.

"I want to stress the fact that we are not trying to take car service from anybody," Mayor Fry declared. "We are trying to improve the service for all people, and I am pleading for a try-out of this new plan in the light of the knowledge we now have about trolley bus operation."

Backing the trolley bus plan, Ald. Campbell believed it would be a mistake "to patch up the system." The city should not spend any money on parts of the tram system now worn out.

BE PROGRESSIVE
Moving concurrence in the Commissioners recommendation for a $150,000 expenditure on the street railway, Ald. Paterson declared Edmonton should follow a progressive policy in the improvement of transportation service.

A majority of council then voted for Ald. Paterson's motion—Aldermen Grant, Brown, Paterson, Bisset, Campbell, as well as Mayor Fry, Ald. Knott and Ald. Macdonald went on record as opposing the street railway program.

Aldermen J. T. McCreath, J. H. Ogilvie and F. C. Caselman were absent.

A. E. Roberg and A. A. Isaac, speaking for the Strathcona Centre Community League, which embraces an area from 106 street and Mill Creek and 81 to 90 avenue, urged a bus service for that district.

PREFER TO WALK
Existing tram service from South Edmonton to the downtown shopping district takes so long that many people prefer to walk." Mr. Roberg declared. Another detrimental factor in the operation of street cars was the interference caused by trucks and cars.

Mr. Roberg said the league was not favoring either gasoline or diesel buses. "We are leaving that choice to you, gentlemen," he stated.

Delegates Isaac said noise caused by street cars passing over old tracks was a nuisance to many citizens there.

The delegation also asked that the road from 90 street along Saskatchewan Drive and down through the South Side park to 105 street bridge be closed.

INTERNE TROUBLE

—By ELMORE COWAN STONE—

CHAPTER V

At the rest of that day, after the terrible Top Sarge had surprised her and Bob Bentley in the instrument room, Tran waited for the summons to an interview with Miss Armstrong, the director of nursing would tell her, regrettably but firmly, that she was a misfit. . . . A misfit? Miss Armstrong's explanation for a student nurse who failed to click.

Late that afternoon, hurrying along a corridor on an errand to Central Supplies, Tran almost collided with a white-coated figure. Dr. Bob Bentley halted her by the simple expedient of knocking his little finger through hers, and murmured swiftly, "Hear anything from Armstrong?"

"Not yet," she murmured. "Maybe you won't," he encouraged her, but his voice lacked conviction. "Top Sarge dressed me down for both of us yesterday. I'm still licking my wounds. Haven't time to tell you all about it now, but—she glanced warily over his shoulder—"when are you off duty?"

This evening at eight—but only ten, of course. At ten, without special permission, all first-year students must be behind their own closed doors. "Meet me at Borden's at eight," he directed succinctly. "We can slip over to the park."

Borden's was the drug store around the corner. Well-regulated probes did not meet inquiries at Borden's, or walk with them in the back—not if they really wanted to get their cap.

"Tran," Tran flung over her shoulder at the door herself away. But she knew she had a hard time living up to that "No" when he called softly after her, "You're the sweetest thing God ever made. Adieu!"

She hurried all the more after that, because the errand was for Miss Miller and "the lecture" sense of timing was uncertain. She knew to a split second how long it should take to get from any given spot to any other given spot in the hospital, and back again.

When Tran got back with the tray of sterilized dressings from the Ausubel—the great cylindrical steam sterilizer—Miss Miller, with the assistance of Miss Smart, a third-year student, was working in the service room of the corridor from which the private rooms opened.

Right now, Tran knew, Miss Miller was on private duty. The patient, one of the doctors from Saint Vincent's board of directors, had specially asked for her.

For Tran, that alone invested Miss Miller with a halo. But on top of that, the fact that Miss Miller's sign of glory, "The Forgetful Nurse," was a little breathless, into the service room, Miss Miller was saying, "Of all the patients in the world, doctors are the biggest babies. They're always sure they're going to die. He's diagnosed his own case a dozen times in the last six hours."

"I know," Miss Smart said. "Miss French had one last week. Believe it or not, he insisted on taking his own temperature. How do you manage yours?"

"Manage?" Miss Miller's blue eyes held a glint of cool amusement. "I treat him exactly as if he were a brookkeeper who wouldn't know a clinical thermometer from a sphygmometer. After all, I am the nurse. If—oh, here you are, Dearborn!"

with Miller. And isn't she the leading lady of this hospital?"

But Tranquilly turned away with her at her heart. In the stimulating consists of the past hour she had almost forgotten that she was a misfit. When she got back to the dormitory, of course, she would find the summons from Miss Armstrong; and that would be the beginning of the end.

Once back in the dormitory, she noticed a light in the demonstration classroom. She had almost forgotten that tomorrow she had been scheduled to demonstrate before the class in nursing procedure. The Making of Bed with Patient in It. . . . The Dressing of a Patient in Bed. . . . Preparation of Patient for General Medical Examination.

There was to have been a sort of final test before the granting of her cap. . . . Getting your cap meant that you were a full-fledged student nurse, entitled to wear a gray striped uniform, white cap, and white bibbed apron—ready to receive the full class period. Instead of "Goodnight," the dormitory, Annie Seibert, another probationer, was to have served as patient. You always had to demonstrate with a living patient before you got your cap.

Tran and Annie had planned a full-dress rehearsal here this evening. But Annie had been sick in bed all day. Tran had taken it for granted that the rehearsal was off. Nevertheless, seeing the light under the door, Tran paused outside. She couldn't quite face the thought of going in her room yet, anyhow—with that summons from Miss Armstrong waiting for her. Perhaps Miss Philbin, the instructor in nursing procedure, was in the demonstration room. A talk with kind, humorous Miss Philbin would back her up a lot. And perhaps Miss Philbin would know what was going to happen to her.

If it was to be the worst, Tran knew what she was going to do. She was going to dress herself up in her best and meet Bob Bentley outside Borden's as he had asked her to do that evening. If he was going out of the hospital on her ear anyhow, she might as well have a little fun on the way.

Tran opened the door and went in. If she had only known it, her decision was one of the most fortuitous of her nursing career.

Pick Out Your Favorite Movie Star!

Study Industry Swim Atop Garage

To United States and thence to Europe for a study of industrial development and methods. Chomouke Yada, above, one of Japan's leading businessmen, is leading a party of 14 Nipponese captains of industry. All hold high positions in the commercial and industrial life of Japan. Many, like Mr. Yoda, are closely connected with government affairs. They will tour England, France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, The Netherlands, Germany, Switzerland and Italy, after seeing how Uncle Sam does his work.

These sultry days the Henry Allendorf family of Cincinnati park their cars in their garage and then go up on the garage roof and take a swim—just like that. Their unique swimming pool is 20 by 40 feet and six feet deep. The top picture shows the Allendorfs having fun in their plunge, and the lower photo shows how the pool is built over their four-car garage.

Ex-Cop Jailed

LEE FLEENOR

Already on trial in the Harlan County mine conspiracy case at London, Ky., former Deputy Sheriff Lee Fleenor, above, faced additional charges following the serious wounding of Charles Reno at Moline, Mo. Officers quoted Fleenor as saying he shot an offender after Reno jumped from behind a car and started firing at him. Reno recently was paroled after serving four years in prison for the slaying of Fleenor's father.

Arrested?

GEORGE DIMITROV

A Polish rumor above that George Dimitrov, head of the Communist international, ruling body over the world's Communists, has been arrested in Moscow in Detroit Stalin's most recent "charge." Dimitrov, a Bulgarian Communist, first came to worldwide attention in 1933, when, as a defendant in the famous Reichstag fire trial in Germany, he denounced the Nazi regime as a Nazi plot, and defied Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Chancellor Hitler's chief lieutenant. He was acquitted and sent out of Germany, going to Russia where he became general secretary of the communist.

Charlie Chaplin and Wife—Really!

Don't these two look like man and wife? Well, they are—and apparently there's no fooling this time about the fact that Charlie Chaplin, famous comedian and Paulette Goddard, actress, are married. Strong enough, it took rumors of divorce to confirm the oft-reported marriage. Paulette registered as "Mrs. Charlie Chaplin" at a Del Monte, Calif., golf tournament. Also she visited Charlie at his Pacific Beach home and it appears that maybe she will not go to Reno to "open a slot clinic" after all. The picture shows the two the last time they were photographed together.

News Man Hits Headlines

Having published as president of the New York News, many a story of others' marital affairs, Joseph Modell, Patterson made good for his own will when he married Miss Mary King, womanly page editor of the paper. He is pictured above with his bride as they sailed for a honeymoon tour of Ireland, Scotland and Wales.
